VICE PRESIDENT SHERMAN.

James Schoolcraft Sherman was one of the kind of citizens of whom a self governing republic can never have too many. When honestly earned the rewards of public service are honestly taken. It is well for any country when its citizens who do not need to "get on in the world" seek the honors of public service. Such citizens are less exposed to temptation and their service is more apt to be personally disinterested. The Hon. James S. Sherman was a fine type of that kind of citizen. Of independent fortune, of approved soundness of judgment in affairs, he was in public life for a quarter century because his own people who knew him best knew him to be a man who could be relied on to do the work of government faithfully and with sober regard for all the variety of interests involved and affected. For twenty years continuously they sent him to Congress in recognition of his quality of reliability.

In the House his record was that of a member who never sought notoriety and always did his full share and more of the work. In the peculiar and somewhat ungrateful role—to minds desirous of conspiracy at any price—of vice president he kept on doing the work.

The vice presidency had to be forced on Theodore Roosevelt because of his fear that he would be forgotten in it. James S. Sherman took it as the great honor it is and didn't care whether he was forgotten in it or not. That chance was just a part of the day's work. The difference in attitude shows the difference in men. A Roosevelt asks of a public duty how doing it will increase his personal renown. A Sherman looks at it as just a public duty worthy of his best efforts, because doing it is a service to his country.

Mr. Sherman's service as vice president has made for the tranquility of the public mind. All who took the slightest trouble to acquaint themselves with his character felt assured that if any accident should befall the head of the nation there would be no uncertainty about what the legal successor would do. All knew that he would go straight on in fidelity to political principles well understood and in loyalty to the laws as they are.

CAN KILL PROSPERITY.

It is commonly stated that this country is too big to be affected by a change of political policy and administration. In an interview upon this subject, former Representative James A. Tamm of Minnesota, after alluding to the prevalence of this assertion, showed its falsity as follows:

"In July 1892, after the nomination of Harrison and Cleveland, the New York Herald presented the same argument then in favor of a change in the political control of our government that is being made now when it said editorially: 'No party can undo the work of nature in the harvest field or destroy the splendid accumulation of enterprise and of business capacity. The country is so large and parties are so small as compared with the influence of the commercial interests of the nation that the success of this party or the defeat of that one can no longer be regarded as a disaster or a threat of disaster to our national prosperity.'"

"It was this line of argument made to the young men of 1892 that led them to believe that no matter which political party was in control of the national government, the good times which were then enjoyed would continue unintercepted as they had continued for thirty-two years under the rule of the Republican party and the policy of protection to American industry and American labor."

"Within six months after a majority of the people had voted a change in the political control of their government, placing the same in the hands of the Democratic party on a platform advocating an industrial policy diametrically opposed to that which had controlled the industrial affairs of the American people for thirty-two years, our mills and factories were closed down, hundreds of thousands of honest, industrious laboring men were traveling across and up and down the continent in search of employment.

"If the issue in this campaign could be determined on November 5 only by the men who passed through the experience between 1892 and 1897 it would not be necessary for the Republican party to make a campaign, for there is scarcely a business man, a farmer or a laboring man who experienced the hard times, the idleness and the low prices of his produce, who would for a moment again vote to place the party in power that wrought such industrial and financial ruin as the country experienced during that period."

"Unfortunately only about thirty per cent of those who voted in 1892 will participate in the determination of these issues in 1912. It is the young men in this campaign, as it was the young men in 1892, who will determine these issues. The young man who casts his first vote on the 5th of next November was only one year old when Cleveland was elected last time, while the man who will cast his tenth vote in states where they vote every two years was only nineteen years old then. These young men from twenty-one to forty-one years of age today were either in their swaddling clothes or in the schools and the colleges when the country was passing through that terrible experience resulting from the change in 1892 from the principles and policies of the Republican party to those of the Democratic party."

"It is therefore the duty of this class of voters—these young men—to give to the consideration of the issues in this campaign most serious thought before blindly voting upon the theory that there is no relation whatever between the political control of the national government and of their individual or national prosperity when such a relation actually exists."

'TIS HALLOWE'EN.

Hail, all ye kids and lassies whose hearts are set upon lovers who love you not! Go ye forth at midnight to the haunts of mystery and seek your fate, for it is Halloween.

Does your love deceive you? Then go ye into some dark cellar at midnight and there, telling your sorrows to the darkness, offer a sacrifice of raw dough, of unleavened bread to the darkness and pray that your devotion may be rewarded with loyalty.

Are there so many that you do not know which one to choose? Then put, as many chestnuts as there are leaves on the stove, naming each nut. Watch them burst and the last one to crack is the loyal love.

Wouldst have some fun? Then bob for apples, find your fortune in the cups, count the pumpkin seeds and consult the witches. It is the night for lovers and lovers not. May the saints grant your desires, and the witches take those you hate!

A MALICIOUS CIRCULAR.

A printed anonymous circular is being sent to Jewish citizens of the upper peninsula, entitled "Congressman Young's Love for Jewish Citizens" in which it is stated that Mr. Young was opposed to the abrogation of the treaty of 1832 with Russia, under which Russia had refused to abide by its terms and recognize passports of American citizens of the Jewish race.

The author of this circular, knowing it to be maliciously false, has not the temerity to sign his name to the same. The fact is, Mr. Young favored the abrogation of this treaty of 1832 on account of the manner in which Russia had refused to abide by its terms and recognize passports of American citizens of the Jewish race.

As voters are well aware, crooked and dishonest politicians circulate false and malicious statements, such as these, at the last moment before election, hoping to fool the voters. Be not deceived.

The voters of the country are coming to the conclusion that President Taft personally deserves a re-election by reason of the high-minded, patriotic and courageous course he has pursued, and that to change from the well established and time-proven ground of Republican principles and policies to the shifting and uncertain bog and squagmire of Democracy, could not but result in detriment if not in disaster to the business of the country.

In Europe they are trying to make living safe. Here in this country at the present time our energies should be directed towards making government safe. Help do this on next Tuesday.

Roosevelt was shot, but at one of the recent Socialist meetings Candidate Debs was killed by an enthusiastic woman who is described as mature in years. Presidential candidates run in various forms of danger.

In the final analysis, the sober second thought of the nation can be depended upon to stand by the progress and prosperity of the people.

MORE CARATS IN DIAMONDS

Unit of Weight for Gems Reduced from 205.3 to 200 Milligrams.
New York, Oct. 31.—In order to conform with the standard of other countries, the weight of a carat in this country will be reduced July 1, to 200 milligrams. Only diamonds and pearls will be affected by this change decided on by the National Jewelers' Board of Trade.

The new unit will enable jewelers to simplify their methods of inventory and it is said the buyer will be benefited by being assured of a gem of correct weight and standard value.

"THIS IS MY 71ST BIRTHDAY."

Countess Mairi, the famous midjet known to three generations as Mrs. Tom Thumb, was born in Middleboro, Mass., Oct. 21, 1841. Her parents were of the usual stature, but her sister, Minnie Warren, was small like herself. Levina Warren, to give her her maiden name, received a good education and it was with great difficulty that she was induced to go on public exhibition by the late P. T. Barnum. In 1862, in Grace Church, New York, she was married to the famous midjet, "General Tom Thumb." Together they toured England, France and Egypt and in 1869 made a trip around the world. Tom Thumb died in 1882 and two years later his widow married Count Primo Mairi, also a midjet. Of late years, when not on tour, the diminutive Count and Countess have spent their winters in California and the summers at the old Warren home in Middleboro.

Brig. Gen. James B. Aleshire, quartermaster-general of the United States Army, 65 years old today.

William G. McAdoo, the builder of the tunnels under the Hudson River, 49 years old today.

Queen Louise, widow of the late King Frederick VIII, of Denmark, 61 years old today.

Dr. H. A. Kelly, of Baltimore, Md., has imported one-fifth of a gramme of radium. It is valued at $5,000.

P. J. Stafford, of Brooklyn, N. Y., has a frog weighing 24 ounces.

Pittsburgh public schools are hereafter to close at 3:30 p. m.

POSTPONE DEDICATION.

St. Joseph's New Edifice Will Not be Ready Nov. 26.

Rev. N. J. Raymond, pastor of St. Joseph's Catholic church, stated this morning that the dedication of the new church would be postponed from November 24 until December 3. This action is taken owing to the fact that the altar will not be completed by the date first set.

It, Rev. Bishop Frederick Elk, of Marquette will celebrate solemn pontifical high mass and there will be two sermons preached, one in English, the other in French. Rev. J. X. Barth, pastor of St. Patrick's church of Escanaba, will deliver the sermon, the latter being of ten minutes duration, while the English sermon will be more lengthy.

All the Catholic societies of the copper country will be extended an invitation to attend and participate in the service and it is thought there will be a monster gathering. In all probability vespers will be held at 7:15 in the evening and the stations of the cross will also be blessed.

Work in progressing very favorably on the structure. The hardwood flooring has arrived and a large portion of it has been laid in the auditorium. The edifice will be ready by the latter part of November, but owing to the fact the altar will not be completed, the postponement is deemed advisable. The bell which has tolled hundreds of times in years past and which has occupied a place on the lawn in front of Father Raymond's residence, was raised to its position in the belfry yesterday.

OWL LODGE DISBANDED.

Nest at Hubbell Surrenders Charter and Will Close up Affairs.

The Hubbell Nest of Owls has decided to surrender its charter and the handful of members still in good standing are contemplating joining the Calumet nest. The local nest was numbered 1161, starting out with a charter membership of 119, but with enthusiasm waned and the membership dwindled down until there are but eight left who are eligible to draw benefits in case of illness. There is still a sufficient amount in the treasury to meet obligations and then have a balance left on hand which the remaining members propose using for a little banquet.

In all other parts of the copper country the Owls have flourished, doubling their charter membership but in the local nest there seemed to be a lack of interest and it was frequently difficult to secure a quorum.

MILLMEN TAKE VOTE.

The employees of the C. & H. power plant, boiler house and repair shop took a straw vote for president this week, all those voting being men eligible to cast ballots at the polls next Tuesday. There were 87 votes cast distributed as follows: Roosevelt, 45; Wilson and Debs each 17; Taft, 6 and Chafin 2.

MEN TO SERVE OYSTERS.

The men of the Lake Linden Congregational church will serve an Oyster supper in the parlors of the church Saturday evening, commencing at 5 o'clock. This is the first supper of the kind held in the local town this fall. Tickets are being sold in advance and a large number have been disposed of.

TORCH LAKE BREVITIES.

The funeral of the late Roderic McKenzie was held this afternoon with services at the residence at 2 o'clock. Rev. Frederic Barnall, pastor of the Congregational church officiating.

Sylvester A. Long, noted lecturer will be heard at the Lake Linden Methodist church tomorrow evening and it is thought a large audience will hear him.

A progressive rally with Hon. William J. MacDonald as speaker, will be held in the Opt hall at Hubbell this evening. The Hubbell band will be in attendance to supply the music.

About fifty Torch Lake Masons will go to Calumet tonight to visit Calumet lodge at which time the Master Mason degree will be conferred. A special car will leave here at 7 o'clock.

CLEANSE YOUR LIVER AND BOWELS WITH DELICIOUS "SYRUP OF FIGS"

REMOVES THE SOUR BILE, GASES AND CLOGGED-UP WASTE WITHOUT GRIPE OR NAUSEA. NO HEADACHE, INDIGESTION, CONSTIPATION, BILIOUSNESS OR COATED TONGUE.

Foul breath, coated tongue, dull throbbing headache, stomach sour and full of gases, indigestion, biliousness and a sallow complexion, mean that your thirty feet of bowels are clogged with waste matter; that these drainage organs of the body are obstructed; liver stagnant and stomach full of poisonous gases, sour bile and undigested, fermenting food not properly carried off.

Most of our ills are caused by constipated bowels. We all need a laxative sometimes; nobody can doubt that. The only question is, Which one is the best? and that isn't a question any more. Syrup of Figs, being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics, must act in a harmless, gentle and natural way. Syrup of Figs can be constantly used without injury. Its action is the action and returning there will be a special train Calumet at 11:45.

Charles Francis has returned from Detroit where he went as a delegate to the state convention of Odd Fellows. After the sessions he visited at Milwaukee and other places.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS.

"Milestones" is to be given in Berlin.

Mauda Raymond and Frances Dorearet have joined the cast of "My Best Girl."

Anna Eva Fay is to return to the stage.

Henry Bernstein is writing a new play in which John Mason may play the hero.

Aita Phipps, prima donna of "The Winning Widow," in Mrs. Abe Reynolds in private life.

A. H. Woods will revive "The Pet of the Petticoats" which was tried last season.

Frank Reicher will play in Annie Russell's old English comedy company.

Paul Acquarone is to produce his new play, "The Roadie," either in Los Angeles or San Francisco.

The Harris Theater, New York, will reopen on November 4, with James Forbes' new play, "A Rich Man's Sin."

Ira St. Leon, who starred in "Poly of the Circus," is to appear in a new play under the management of A. R. Steep.

Adole Rowland has been engaged for a leading role in Stan Bernard's new production under the Shubert management.

"The Stronger Claim," Henry W. Savage's new production, is booked for a long tour through the South and the middle West.

Margaret Anglin has decided to shelve "Exodus." The author, Edward Sheldon, will probably try to find another star for his play.

"My Pretense," a play by James McMillan, one of the authors of "The Fourth Estate," has been produced in Chicago recently.

W. H. Gilmore has been engaged to play one of the important roles in "The Argyle Case," in which Robert Hilliard is to be the star.

William Anthony Maguire, who made a hit with a play dealing with the divorce question, has written another play, entitled "The Cost of Living."

After her present season, it is announced, Henrietta Crossman will be seen in a repertoire of classic plays. This has long been her ambition. "First Love," Lulu Glaser's vaudeville operetta, is the joint work of Raymond W. Lock, who wrote the book, Anatol Friedland the music and Melville Alexander the lyrics.

Maurice Campbell, the husband and manager of Henrietta Crossman, is to produce a play called "The Ghost Aviators."

"HAIR THAT GIVES FATHER TIME THE LAUGH"

We are just about as old as we LOOK.

People judge us, by the way we LOOK. The man or woman with grey hair is beginning to get in the "Old Timer's Class." This Twentieth Century does NOT want GREY hairs—it wants the energy of Youth. The big things are being done by the YOUNGER generation. There's a sort of "Has Been" look about those "Grey Hairs." There's always one to criticize and smile scornfully. Father Time is a stern disciplinarian. Get the best of him. Give him the laugh. Do not be a "Has Been." It's unnecessary. Use HAY'S HAIR HEALTH.

Keeps You Looking Young

It will and it will stay on your head. It will keep your hair from falling out. It will keep your hair from turning grey. It will keep your hair from becoming thin. It will keep your hair from becoming dry. It will keep your hair from becoming itchy. It will keep your hair from becoming sore. It will keep your hair from becoming inflamed. It will keep your hair from becoming infected. It will keep your hair from becoming diseased. It will keep your hair from becoming anything but healthy. It will keep your hair from becoming anything but beautiful. It will keep your hair from becoming anything but young.

FOR SALE & RECOMMENDED BY VASTBINDER & REAP.

FOGEL DENIES EVERYTHING.

Philly Owner Defies National League to Try Him.

New York, Oct. 31.—A general denial of the charges brought by the National league against Horace Fogel, president of the league's Philadelphia club in this city on Oct. 17, are contained in a letter received from Fogel yesterday by President Thomas J. Lynch.

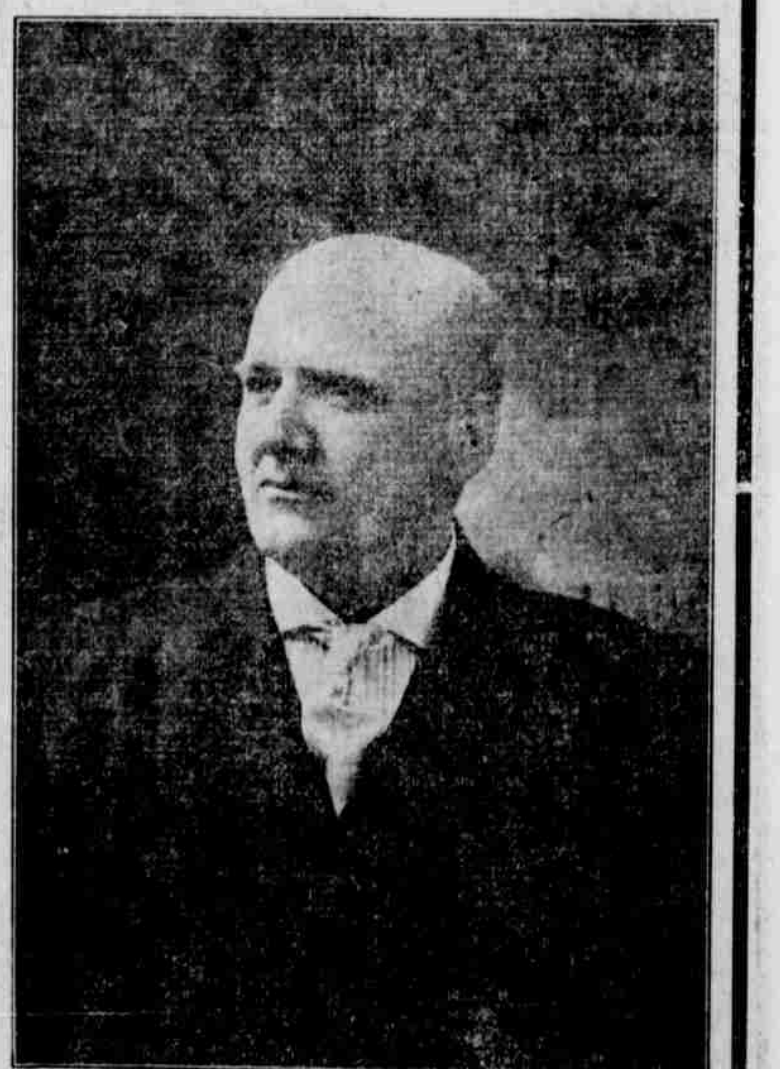

Fogel's letter expressed defiance of the National league to try his case according to Mr. Lynch, who said the text of Mr. Fogel's reply would not be made public until Nov. 26, when the league will meet here to give the Philadelphia manager a hearing. One of the charges against Fogel is that in an article published under his signature he stated that the National league race for 1912 was crooked and that President Lynch and certain umpires were working in the interest of the New York club and that further it was fixed for the New York club to win the pennant. In his letter of reply today, Mr. Fogel denies he ever made such statements.

Berlin is replacing all fire apparatus with motor-driven vehicles. German companies refuse to insure aviators.
